Welcome to Nevada!

Through the pages of this guide, you'll begin to see what sets this great state apart from the rest, what makes people from all over the world stop and say, "I didn't know that was Nevada!"

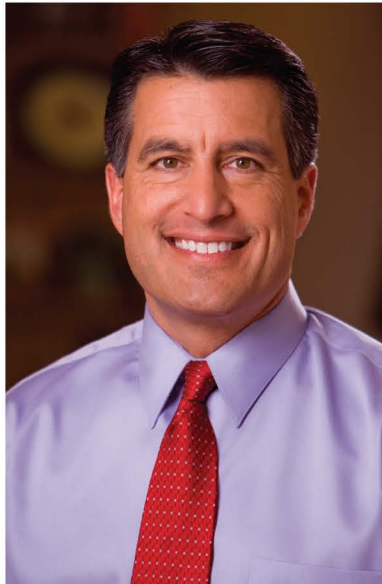

For example, did you know this is the most mountainous state in the nation? In Spanish, Nevada means "snow-capped," and aptly so, since our 314 mountain ranges are often dusted with snow, and the winter months bring deep snow packs ideal for skiing, snowboarding and snowmobiling. The 18 ski resorts in the Lake Tahoe region are world-famous for deep powder, challenging runs and a welcoming atmosphere. But did you know that there's also skiing in Elko, as well as Las Vegas? Yes, you can ski just an hour away from the Strip.

You may also be surprised to hear that the Wild West still lives on in Nevada, and not just in "Bonanza" reruns. From the saloons and gunslingers in Virginia City to the ranchers and cattle workers in Elko and the herds of wild mustangs that still run free in between, much of Nevada is still the way it was 100 years ago.

But that doesn't mean it hasn't grown up along the way too. Las Vegas is constantly raising the bar in sophistication and big-city entertainment. Reno has regenerated itself with a vibrant arts community, thriving and bustling downtown and outdoor adventure within minutes of the casino core.

Special events such as the National Finals Rodeo, the National Cowboy Poetry Gathering, the Great Reno Balloon Races, the International Camel Races and the National Basque Festival attract people from all over to experience a taste of Nevada life.

I invite you to come make your own memories in Nevada.

Sincerely,

photo opportunities

In the digital age, the camera has become as essential a traveling accessory as a toothbrush. Wondering what to photograph in Nevada?

1 Wendover Will—An inviting 63-foot-tall Western figure donning a cowboy hat and holster, the Wendover Will sign in West Wendover has made it into the scrapbooks of many families who have traveled Interstate 80 in northeastern Nevada.

2 Lake Tahoe—Take your pick among 72 miles of shoreline to capture this alpine treasure. One suggestion is the turnout just before Incline Village traveling from Reno on State Route 431.

3 Lamoille Canyon—Imagine “Nevada’s Alps,” if you will. Now put the Lamoille Canyon Scenic Byway, southeast of Elko, on your itinerary to make the vision a reality. In summer, wildflowers are abundant. The byway is often closed in the winter, but you can still take home an impressive shot of the snowcapped peaks.

4 Hoover Dam—Since its dedication in 1935, this landmark energy producer has been a photographer magnet. With the construction of a new bridge on Highway 93, accessible via a walking trail, vantage points never before offered now present themselves.

5 Welcome to Fabulous Las Vegas—This has been one of the most photographed signs in the world since it was erected in 1959. The iconic structure is located in the median at 5100 Las Vegas Boulevard South. There is a similar sign on the opposite end of the Strip as well.

6 Lovelock—In Lovelock, you can practice the ancient Chinese custom of symbolically locking your love on a never-ending chain, in this instance behind the Pershing County Courthouse. The 1920s courthouse and Lovers Lock Plaza make for a great Kodak moment.

7 Pyramid Lake—The Pyramid Lake Scenic Byway, north of Reno, offers your choice of points to get out of the car and snap this ancient desert lake in all its glory. But you’ll want to make time for a snapshot of the impressive pyramid-shaped formation that gave the lake its English name.

8 Cathedral Gorge State Park—This Lincoln County playground is in a long, narrow valley where nature has carved dramatic patterns in the soft bentonite clay. Trails abound for exploring the cave-like formations and cathedral-like spires. Miller Point offers excellent views of the scenic canyon.

9 Reno Arch—No trip to downtown Reno is complete until you've captured the family in front of this historic "The Biggest Little City in the World" sign, located at Virginia Street and Commercial Row. History buffs can visit the original arch on Lake Street near the Truckee River.

10 Berlin-Ichthyosaur State Park—Ghost towns are high on many Nevada photographers' lists. Start with this easily accessible state park, which has multiple structures, including a massive mill, remaining from this late-1800s boomtown. Later, ichthyosaur fossils were discovered in the area; Fossil Shelter Tours provide another unique photo opportunity.

11 Highway 50 Sign—The east-west route, also known as "The Loneliest Road in America," covers a vast stretch of middle Nevada that roughly follows the route of the Pony Express. There are several Loneliest Road signs along the route at which you can make a photo pit stop.

12 Great Basin National Park—One great thing about this national park is you won't have to fend off the huge crowds to get a shot you'll cherish forever. The entire park is picture-worthy, but start with a moderate hike to the massive rock formation Lexington Arch.

13 Valley of Fire State Park—No part of this state park, highlighted by its stunning red sandstone, will disappoint those armed with a camera. If you need a suggestion, find Rainbow Vista, with a majestic panoramic view of multicolored rock formations.

14 Grimes Point—This stop off Highway 50 near Fallon is one of the largest and most accessible petroglyph sites in northern Nevada. Close-up access to nearly 150 basalt boulders will make you wish you brought a backup memory card.

15 Extraterrestrial Highway—No matter from which direction you drive into Rachel on the Extraterrestrial Highway (State Route 375), you will come across a sign that promotes the unique byway. Either makes for a great photo opportunity, and you can devour a burger at the town's famous Little A'Le Inn.

vacation ideas

Spring, summer, fall, or winter, Nevada's cities, towns, and rural escapes will surely satisfy the Silver State traveler.

TPC Canyons, Las Vegas

Lake Tahoe, by Chris Talbot

Great Reno Balloon Race, by Charlie Johnston

GOLF

Rolling hills of lush green grass, towering pines, swaying palms, languidly flowing streams and serene waterfalls. You're not dreaming — you're in Nevada, teeing off at one of the state's more than 100 golf courses. From Edgewood Tahoe, where you can watch your ball sail over the fairway with a pristine Lake Tahoe backdrop, to Wolf Creek Golf Club in sunny Mesquite, the Silver State may as well be the Green State as it offers some of the best courses in the country. More than 300 days of sunshine annually equate to short-sleeve weather and year-round play in the Las Vegas area, sweeping summer views of the majestic Sierra Nevada from fairways around Reno and Lake Tahoe, and even quirky, donation-only destinations such as the Lincoln County Golf Course in Pioche. Face it, you've got what may just be golf Shangri-La.

PARKS

With nearly 30 combined national and state parks in Nevada, you could plan a lifetime of vacations around these recreation refuges alone. Starting with Great Basin National Park on the eastern edge of the state, and Death Valley National Park on the western end, plus plenty of state parks in between, your adventure options are as numerous as they are varied. First, take an otherworldly underground tour of Lehman Caves, naturally and ornately decorated with stalactites and stalagmites, at Great Basin. Then, learn about the state's little-known aquatic history and visit a ghost town at Berlin-Ichthyosaur State Park, dip your toes in the world's most beautiful body of water at Lake Tahoe State Park and stand in awe among the striking red sandstone formations at Valley of Fire State Park. Amazing, huh? Just think, you still have more than 20 parks to visit.

WINTER RECREATION

Nevada gets stereotyped as a desert, but its hundreds of thousands of square miles of public land are checkered with mountains — tall mountains at that. And those mountains become a winter wonderland when the calendar turns to December. The Lake Tahoe region claims 18 ski and snowboard resorts, offering a powdery plethora that runs the gamut from backcountry and downhill to terrain park. In southern Nevada, Las Vegas Ski and Snowboard Resort beckons visitors. Most resorts offer activities for the non-skier such as ice skating and tubing, or the serenity of riding a gondola and peering down on wintry bliss. Extreme skiers and boarders might feel more comfortable on the isolated slopes of the Ruby Mountains southeast of Elko. Ruby Mountains Heli-Experience will get you there — via helicopter. Northern Nevada as a whole is a snowmobiler's paradise. There is plenty of white stuff — how you want to enjoy it is your call.

EVENTS

Bed races, chariot races, cowboy poetry, ice sculptures, mining competitions, and sprinting Santas — creative would be an understatement. At the annual Beatty Days, one member of each team wears pajamas and lounges in bed as their teammates push them to victory. Wells' yearly Charlie Nannini Invitational Chariot Races harkens back to gladiator days, while events such as Elko's National Cowboy Poetry Gathering and Minden's Rhymers Rodeer showcase contemporary and traditional Western artists. Every January, Cave Lake State Park hosts the White Pine Fire and Ice Show, featuring an ice-sculpting contest and a frosty fireworks show that echoes through the canyons of the Schell Creek Range. Tonopah's traditional Jim Butler Days brings the town back to its early-1900s boom, with throwback drilling and mucking events, while hundreds of wanna-be Santas participate in the Las Vegas Great Santa Run every December.

SCENIC BYWAYS/ ROUTES OF SPECIAL INTEREST

The Silver State has 10 designated scenic byways, which represent just the beginning of the natural wonders that can be enjoyed from the comfort of your automobile. It's not possible to see the world in an hour, but the Las Vegas Strip National Scenic Byway is the closest you're going to get. Themed resorts put you in such exotic places as Egypt and New York City. The Lake Tahoe National Scenic Byway takes you from Stateline to Incline Village, with fairytale views of the azure lake along the way. The Lamoille Canyon Scenic Byway (closed in the winter) gives drivers an up-close and personal look at "Nevada's Alps," otherwise known as the Ruby Mountains. The Extraterrestrial Highway, known by some alien beings as State Route 375, has gained fame over the last few decades due to its proximity to the Nevada Test Site and secrecy-shrouded Area 51. A Nevada road trip would not be complete, however, without a ride on U.S. 50, The Loneliest Road in America, which connects you to such friendly small towns as Eureka and Ely.

NATURAL WONDERS/ UNIQUE NEVADA

Pyramid Lake, north of Reno and a remnant of ancient Lake Lahontan, is one of only two lakes in the world that sustains a population of Lahontan cutthroat trout. The fish are a favorite among anglers, who also fancy the lake — part of the Pyramid Lake Paiute Reservation — for its isolation and unique beauty. In southern Nevada, one of the most awe-inspiring manmade landmarks in the West, Hoover Dam, tames the Colorado River in order to transmit power as far as Los Angeles. Tours of the dam are popular, and a new bridge and walking trail give visitors a new vantage point on this engineering marvel. For those who really want to get away, consider a "wild-horse adventure" in rural Nevada. With the largest population of wild horses in the nation, Nevada offers superb access to these symbolic animals. If city life is more your style, there's truly no place on earth like the Las Vegas Strip, containing mile upon mile of mega, themed resorts.

SHOPPING

It's always nice to mix a little sightseeing with your shopping. Enter Outlets at Legends, east of Reno. Throughout the complex — anchored by sporting-goods megastore Scheels — are statues and placards paying homage to historic Nevada figures such as Mark Twain and Bill Harrah and Nevada icons such as the bristlecone pine and Lahontan cutthroat trout. Directly west on Interstate 80, outdoor enthusiasts who lean more toward hunting and fishing might visit Cabela's, the "World's Foremost Outfitter." In south Reno, The Summit shopping center has designer brands and a cinema to boot. Las Vegas is a shopper's paradise, whether it's outlets or the finest brands. Las Vegas Premium Outlets and Fashion Outlets of Las Vegas will satisfy the bargain hunter, while shopping meccas such as the Forum Shops at Caesars Palace and Crystals at CityCenter will please those searching for the hottest style trends. Outdoorsmen who haven't had their fill in Reno-Tahoe can visit Bass Pro Shops across from Silverton Casino in Las Vegas. If vintage Western accessories are more your taste, head to rural Nevada towns such as Virginia City, where you can window shop on 1800s-era wooden sidewalks, and Elko, where stores such as J.M. Capriola Co. smell so strongly of genuine leather you'll be hard pressed not to leave with a new pair of chaps.

HISTORY

When you drive through Virginia City and spot the cowboy-clad locals, you'll have to check for your cell phone to assure yourself you are indeed in the 21st century. Now, take the ride to Carson City on the Virginia & Truckee Railroad. Find yourself questioning the era, again? Don't worry, this is typical in historic Nevada. Just a short drive from Virginia City are two of Nevada's earliest settlements, Dayton and Genoa. The first documented gold found in Nevada was plucked from Gold Canyon Creek in the spring of 1849 in what is now the heart of Dayton, and Genoa's early history — dating to 1851 — can still be appreciated at Mormon Station State Historic Park. Gold and Western emigrants played a major role, no doubt, but the railroad was pivotal in shaping early Nevada. Elko, Ely, Lovelock, and Sparks are just a few of the towns that attribute their establishment to the short lines. In Ely you can ride a vintage steam or coal-powered locomotive at Nevada Northern Railway Museum. To truly appreciate Nevada's history, however, is to tour one of its many ghost towns such as Berlin or Rhyolite or learn about its American Indian heritage at museums like the Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribe Museum, the Nevada State Museum, or Overton's Lost City Museum.

ADVENTURE

Whether it's the challenge of reaching Nevada's highest point, Boundary Peak, hitting the slopes at one of Lake Tahoe's 18 world-class ski resorts after a fresh snowfall, or fending off a hot summer day in a kayak at Reno's Truckee River Whitewater Park, the Silver State doesn't lack adventure opportunities. Backpackers can access Nevada's remote expanses via the Tahoe Rim Trail, Ruby Crest National Recreation Trail or the Toiyabe Crest National Recreation Trail. ATVs and off-roaders can scale Sand Mountain near Fallon, Big Dune in Amargosa Valley, or the Silver State OHV Trail in White Pine County. Lake Tahoe, Lake Mead, Pyramid Lake, and Walker Lake bait water-sports fanatics, including boaters, kayakers, and paddle boarders. Mountain bikers can tackle the Sonoma Mountain Range near Winnemucca on the Bloody Shins Trail. Bootleg Canyon Mountain Bike Park and Bootleg Canyon Flightlines, near Boulder City, will satisfy the most hardcore adrenaline junkies. Bootleg Canyon has some of the most challenging single-track trails in the country, and the Flightlines give harnessed passengers of the zipline a bird's-eye view from the top of Red Mountain. Speaking of airborne, one of the best places to take to the sky is Carson Valley, where the thermals lift hang gliders, soarers, and paragliders high over ranchlands, pine trees and the foothills of the Sierra Nevada. Whatever gets your heart racing, your Nevad-venture is waiting for you.

WEDDINGS

Imagine if, for less than $1,000 and just 20 minutes of your time, you can say "I do" to your dearly beloved high above one of the most beautiful lakes in the world. In Nevada, you don't have to imagine — you just have to book a trip to Lake Tahoe and schedule a "heli-ceremony" with one of the many tour companies in the area. If quirky is more your style, at such attractions as The Elvis Wedding Chapel of Las Vegas, the King himself will perform your wedding ceremony and sing a selection of his greatest hits. How vintage is that? Traditional is more your style? All across rural Nevada — Austin, Lamoille, Virginia City — are historic churches that pride themselves on the old-fashioned Big Day. Add to that professional wedding services and vendors befitting a state whose officials perform more weddings per capita than any other state in the nation, plus Nevada's renowned ease on the wedding legalities side, and the reasons behind this glowing reputation become as crystal clear as Lake Tahoe's beautiful blue waters. Whatever type of wedding experience you're looking for, Nevada will make it memorable.

Las Vegas Territory

The land of desert and dreams, southern Nevada's Las Vegas Territory offers locals and tourists a little bit of everything. There are beaches for bathing, casinos for cashing in, resorts for relaxing, slopes for skiing and limits bound only by the imagination.

Bighorn Sheep

Hoover Dam, by Nevada Department of Transportation

The Eiffel Tower, a pyramid and sphinx, a pirate ship, the New York City skyline, a volcano, a castle, the Roman Coliseum and five miles of asphalt—welcome to the Las Vegas Strip, the only designated nighttime scenic byway in the country. Roughly 40 million annual visitors make this small stretch of road among the most visited in the country, if not the world. And the draw of southern Nevada does not stop there. The vibrant city stretches for miles, and past the casinos and strip malls, the entire Las Vegas Territory holds natural wonders and excitement to rival the manmade brilliance of the city.

Nearby Boulder City and Hoover Dam offer history and a relaxed pace, and Lake Mead is the perfect place to beat the desert heat. If you prefer pine trees and snow to cacti and sand, Mount Charleston and the Spring Mountains offer an alpine getaway less than an hour from the resorts of the Strip. For more adventure, Red Rock Canyon National Conservation Area is minutes outside the Las Vegas city limits, and Valley of Fire State Park is just a short drive east.

For Vegas-style excitement without the Vegas hustle and bustle, try the Colorado River-side oasis of Laughlin, the golfers' paradise of Mesquite, and Primm, home of the Desperado, one of the tallest, fastest roller coasters on earth.

Similar to the mirage-like clones of world wonders lining the Strip, there is a lot more than meets the eye in the Las Vegas Territory.

Reno-Tahoe Territory
Northwestern Nevada

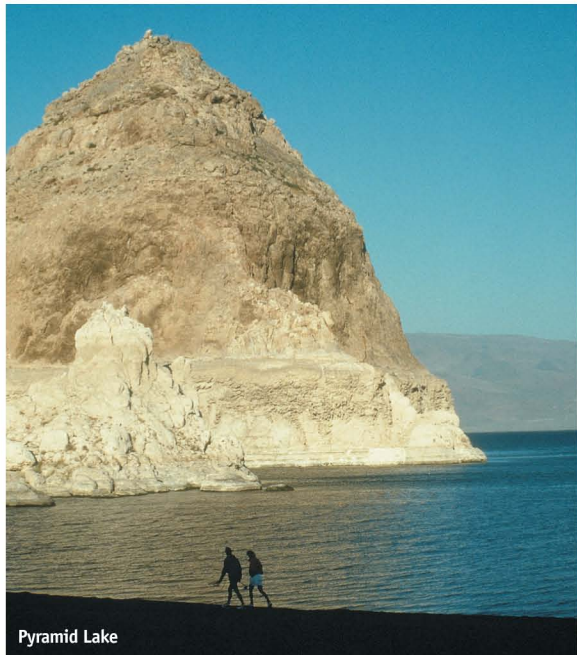

Downtown Reno, by Tom Compton

Lake Tahoe, by Dianne Phelps

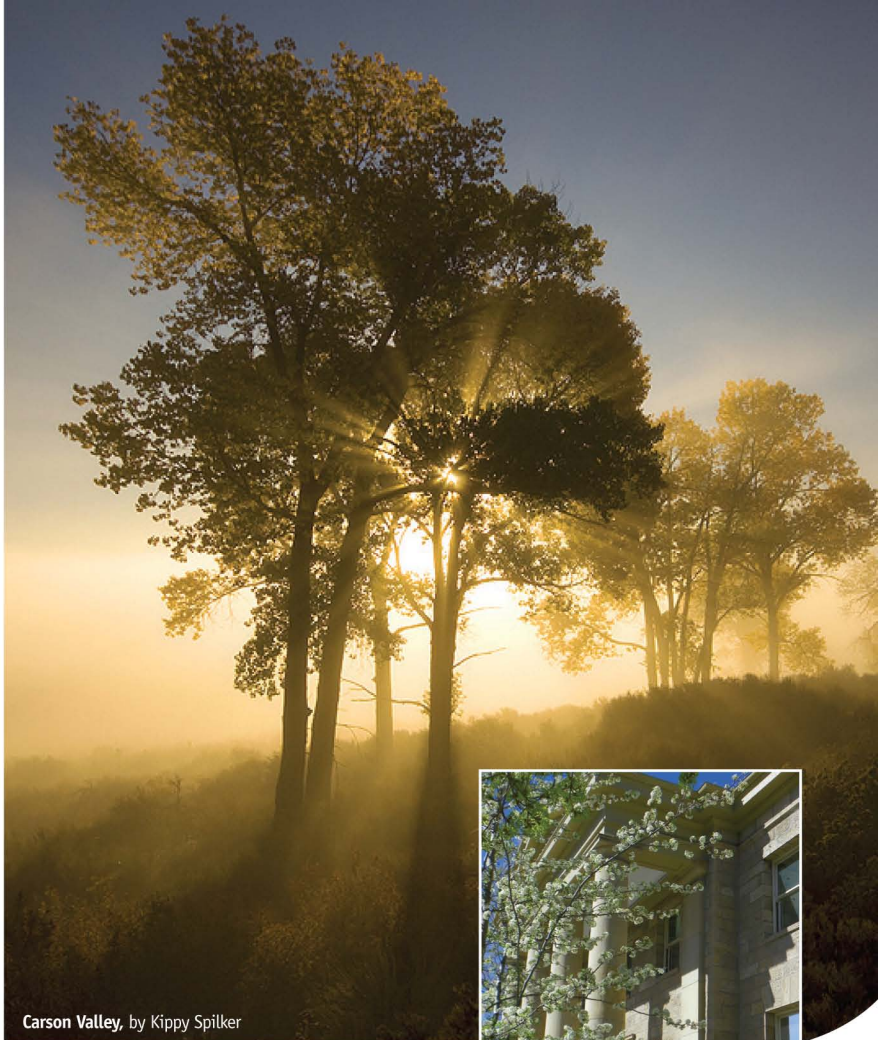

Pyramid Lake

Reno-Tahoe Territory

Northwestern Nevada's Reno-Tahoe Territory has something for everyone. One of the world's most picturesque bodies of water, Lake Tahoe, is only miles from some of the most historic spots in the West, and cosmopolitan Reno is refreshingly close to ranches and wide-open Nevada desert.

Carson Valley, by Kippy Spilker

The City of Reno bills itself as “Far From Expected,” and the same could be said for the entire territory. Reno-Tahoe Territory is a masterpiece of beautiful contrasts, where ruggedness and sophistication mesh seamlessly, leisure and excitement comeingle happily, and historic and cutting-edge thoughtfully complement one another.

Nevada's history and future meet in the nerve center of the Silver State, Carson City. Charming tree-lined streets, historic buildings, local shops, and inviting eateries set the pace in the amiable state capital. In the state's second-largest metropolitan area, Reno and Sparks, urban style is accented by a love for the great outdoors, with hiking, biking, skiing, whitewater rafting on the Truckee River, and more recreational opportunities virtually at your fingertips. A vibrant arts scene and burgeoning collection of locally owned shops and restaurants help visitors feel the pride radiated by locals in the Truckee Meadows.

Nature is the star of the show at Lake Tahoe, a double-duty destination that attracts snow enthusiasts in the winter, with 18 world-class ski resorts, and sun-seekers in the summer with its refreshing azure waters. Virginia City retains the feel of an 1860s mining town, replete with wood-planked sidewalks. Rural charm takes center stage in Gardnerville, Genoa, and Minden in the picturesque Carson Valley. All of these towns, Reno and Carson City included, can provide a living lesson in history or an antique shopping spree.

Adventure, inspiration, relaxation or a mixture of the three can be enjoyed in Nevada's Reno-Tahoe Territory.

Cowboy Country
Northeastern Nevada

Lamoille Canyon

Pronghorn Antelope, by Charlie Johnston

Cowboy Country

Cowboy Country in northeastern Nevada is a land of big skies and big adventure. Rugged mountains, pristine rivers and lakes, friendly towns, and plenty of miles to roam evoke the spirit of the cowboy in the aptly named territory.

World Human-Powered Speed Challenge, Battle Mountain

Jarbidge

You can almost hear the tinny rustling of spurs and whinny of horses as you look out across the vast steppe terrain of northeastern Nevada. The broad valleys, terraced hills, and snowy mountains seem only to be missing a handful of rugged cattlemen pushing a herd to pasture. In Nevada's Cowboy Country, the iconic imagery of the Wild West lives on.

Despite their modern hotels, restaurants and stores, a slight feeling of the frontier remains in towns such as Battle Mountain, Elko, Winnemucca, and Wells. Elko's annual National Cowboy Poetry Gathering shows the seldom-seen softer side of Nevada's tough, austere vaqueros as they share their humorous, truthful, and often heart-wrenching tales of life on the range. The region is also home to the state's largest population of Basque Americans, descendants of sheep ranchers with a legendary love of hard work, hearty food, and good fun.

Adventures worthy of rough-and-tumble wranglers abound in Cowboy Country, from hunting and hiking in the Ruby and Jarbidge mountains to fishing and exploring the region's rivers and lakes. And it's not all adrenaline, Stetsons and boots in Nevada's northeast. Couples can symbolically lock their love in Lovelock, and West Wendover and Jackpot feature Vegas-style resorts and top-name entertainment.

Whether you arrive by horse, car or plane, in a business suit or cowboy boots, the warm hospitality of Nevada's Cowboy Country will make you feel right at home.

Highway 50 Survival Guide, by Rachid Dahnoun

Pony Express Trail, by Nevada Department of Transportation

Pony Express Territory

North Central Nevada's Pony Express Territory is named for the famous 1860s mail route that traversed the region. U.S. Highway 50 follows roughly the same route, one that was once considered threatening and forbidding but is now dotted with interesting stops and friendly towns.

More than 150 years ago, the vast sagebrush-filled valleys and pine-clad mountains of central Nevada echoed with the sounds of thundering hooves and strained breathing. Fearless men astride vigorous steeds, dashing across the barren desert, defined Nevada and the West. While the days of mochila mailbags and bandit attacks are long gone, the same rugged, untamed spirit is alive and well in Nevada's Pony Express Territory.

"The Loneliest Road in America," Nevada's portion of U.S. Highway 50, traverses the state along roughly the same path as the legendary mail route. The Pony Express riders of the 1860s rested their saddle-weary bones in Spartan shacks and ate starvation rations, but visitors today can enjoy top-quality bed and breakfasts, Wi-Fi equipped hotels, and dining options that vary from quick roadside eats to gourmet delights.

The towns of Dayton, Fernley, Fallon, Austin, Eureka, and Ely replace the lonesome, dusty stations of yesteryear and are home to unique and historical attractions. Destinations such as Fort Churchill State Historic Park in the west and Great Basin National Park in the east offer outdoor activities for days or even weeks of exploration.

The route may be paved and free of bandits, but the adventure lives on in Nevada's Pony Express Territory.

Nevada Silver Trails

The vast central region of Nevada has been defined from its earliest days by the rich deposits of gold and silver found there. Riches still abound throughout Silver Trails, especially along its two major roads, U.S. Highways 93 and 95, that provide easy access from Las Vegas.

Extraterrestrial Highway, by Charlie Johnston

Berlin, by Matthew B. Brown

Nevada is home to more undeveloped land than any other of the contiguous 48 states — outside of the major population centers, it can feel like you have the entire place to yourself. Nevada Silver Trails occupies much of the state's sweeping central expanses, accessible via the highways the territory is named for, U.S. 93 and 95. The territory is a short drive north of Las Vegas.

Highway 93 on the eastern side of the region connects historic, charming towns such as Caliente, Panaca, and Pioche to Las Vegas and natural wonders such as Lincoln County's five state parks: Beaver Dam, Cathedral Gorge, Echo Canyon, Kershaw-Ryan and Spring Valley. Highway 95 travels the western half of the region between Las Vegas and Reno through towns such as Beatty, the gateway to Death Valley National Park; Goldfield, the site of one of Nevada's most substantial gold finds; and Tonopah, declared the No. 1 stargazing destination in the country by USA Today. The Las Vegas bedroom community of Pahrump is a short drive from the main road on State Route 160. The vast center of the region is home to the Extraterrestrial Highway and Rachel, beacons to UFO enthusiasts, and the desert oasis of Pahrnanagat National Wildlife Refuge.

On the occasions when the solitude of Nevada Silver Trails is broken, it is by the friendly locals who call Nevada's heartland their home — and after a couple days of exploring, it's easy to see why they are so proud to do so.

Indian Territory

Nevada's earliest inhabitants have been a part of the Sagebrush State for millennia. The traditions and rich cultures of the Hualapai, Paiute, Washoe, Western Shoshone and other tribes are alive and well in strongholds in every corner of the state.

As rich and storied as the annals of contemporary Nevada history are, they pale in comparison to the chronicles of the Silver State's first inhabitants. With ancestry that can be traced back thousands of years, Nevada's American Indians are such an integral part of this state that the Indian Territory encompasses all of it.

The Hualapai, Paiute, Washoe, and Western Shoshone Nations called the valleys of Nevada home long before Europeans were aware of the continent. The traditions and cultures of these peoples still thrive in nearly 30 colonies across the state and offer visitors the chance to witness and experience the ways of Nevada's first civilizations.

A myriad of petroglyph sites around the state from Valley of Fire State Park in the south to Grimes Point in the north offer mystery and a sense of discovery. The Lost City Museum in Overton contains artifacts recovered from the ancient city of Pueblo Grande de Nevada, and the world-famous 19th-century basketry of Dat-So-La-Lee can be viewed at the Nevada State Museum in Carson City. For a hands-on experience, festivals and powwows around the state are entertaining and informative.

It is said that the best way to learn a language is to immerse yourself in it, so it stands to reason that the fullest understanding of Nevada is through the experiences of its first citizens.
